Washington NASA Space Grant Consortium Scholarships

for students who plan to study math, science or engineering at the University of Washington

Scholarships for community college transfer students range from $1,000 to $5,000 per year, renewable up to two years. Other benefits include:

- A chance to participate in cutting-edge research
- Assistance with registration, campus resources and academic advising
- Faculty mentors
- Optional residence on the Space Grant dorm floor
- Activities with other Space Grant scholars

Awards are based on academic achievement, standardized test scores, personal essays, recommendations, and future academic promise. You must be a Washington resident and a U.S. citizen to apply.
