

Story #1

A long time ago I tried to find hidden gold in olive store on my journey. I trusted the merchant to keep my gold, but he was very greedy. I thought he stole my gold. We argued each other, and then we went to the king to judge who is right. The king had very clever children. He pretended to judge wrong. The children judged the merchant was innocent because he didn't know the gold was in the store. The king praised them and gave the reward. We apologized each other.

Story #2

One man went to the store bought some olives. He stole and hidden gold. A merchant trust him. After man went on a journey. On the journey this greedy man stole again. A merchant catch him and argue the king to judge a man. But this man has clever children. They thought the gold was reward.

Story #3

Once there was a merchant and he had some gold. He didn't trust any of his four children. Before his leaving for a long journey, he tried to find a good place to hide his gold. Finally he decided to keep the gold under the ground of one of olives trees in his garden to be hidden from his children. After his return from the journey, he found the gold was stolen and asked the merchant took all his children to the king for his judgement who stole the gold. They argued each other before the king. Four children were taken to the judge. All of them were very clever enough to pretend to be innocent. Finally king put them on test.