EXTRA CREDIT BINDER

If you choose to submit a binder of your work for extra credit, you must bring it with you to class on Monday, August 13. No late binders will be accepted.

Make sure you include the Binder Contents Sheet that was distributed in class (and that is available at the class web site). That sheet includes instructions on what all should be included in the binder. In general, you want to include everything that has been returned to you with a grade on it (exams, quizzes, homework, and worksheets), and any extra work you did in preparation for the course (like daily homework problems or extra practice problems).

PORTFOLIO

The completed portfolio is due in class on Tuesday, August 14. No late portfolios will be accepted.

When you submitted the portfolio problems for homework throughout the course, they were graded for mathematical correctness. All the corrections that were indicated must be made for the final portfolio.

In addition, part of the grade for the portfolio will be for its presentation. Make sure your work looks professional and that it indicates that you have taken great care in it in order to maximize your grade. Your portfolio should include a cover sheet and an introduction. Your introduction should be personal – maybe you can discuss what topics you felt were most challenging, or talk about what you feel you got out of the course. The introduction should be at most one page long.

Explanations, with correct grammar and spelling, will be important. The portfolios that receive top marks will be those that a student taking an Intermediate Algebra course would be able to learn from easily.

You will receive the graded portfolio back on Wednesday, August 15, so that you can bring it with you to the final exam.

FINAL EXAM

The final exam will be Thursday, August 16, in the regular classroom, at the regular class time.

Remember to bring your graphing calculator and your graded portfolio. The portfolio is the only reference you may use during the exam.
